Fascinating and informative By Wayno A text required for a class (one among many) that brings the writings and influences of a little known period of time and people to light. Great read for those hoping to understand how a culture reflects their times and seeks to honor their heritage. 4 of 8 people found the following review helpful. A fine and scholarly addition to any Judaic or world history collection, highly recommended. By Midwest Book Review. Judaism is one of the oldest religions in the world. "Early Judaism: Texts and Documents on Faith and Piety" traces the lines back to the earliest days of this ancient religion and looks at its early belief and how the faith was truly started and got spread throughout the middle east, during a time where monotheism was a strange and focusing belief. "Early Judaism: Texts and Documents on Faith and Piety" is a fine and scholarly addition to any Judaic or world history collection, highly recommended.

Jewish writings from the period of Second Temple present a rich and potentially overwhelming variety of first-hand materials. George W. E. Nickelsburg and Michael E. Stone, experts on this formative period, have updated their classic sourcebook on Jewish beliefs and practices to take into account current thinking about the sources and to include new documents, including texts from Qumran not available in the first edition, in a brilliantly organized synthesis. Included are chapters on Jewish sects and parties, the Temple and worship in it, ideals of piety and conduct, expectations concerning deliverance, judgment, and vindication, different conceptions of the agents of God's activity, and the figure of Lady Wisdom in relationship to Israel.

About the Author. George W. E. Nickelsburg is Emeritus Professor of Religion at the University of Iowa, where he taught for more than three decades, and is the author of 1 Enoch 1 (Hermeneia; Fortress, 2001). Michael E. Stone is Emeritus Professor in the Institute of Asian and African Studies at the Hebrew University in Jerusalem and is the author of Fourth Ezra (Hermeneia, Fortress, 1990).
